Overview

The university has the legislated obligation to manage all contracting employers providing services on university premises. The university as the owner is obligated to comply with the Alberta Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) Act, Regulations, and Code. For multi-employer construction work, the university will either retain the prime contractor role or assign one (in writing) to manage the health, safety, and environmental impacts of the work.

Purpose

The purpose of this assignment of accountability is to ensure a systematic approach to the management of contracting employers so that health and safety risks to contracting employers and to the university community are minimized and to eliminate or control impact to the environment.
Accountabilities

Senior administrators are mandated to:

1. Implement contractor management practices that:
   a. eliminate or minimize impacts to health, safety, and the environment.
   b. clearly communicate the health, safety, and environmental responsibilities and accountabilities of all involved parties.
   c. ensure compliance with applicable health, safety, and environmental legislation.
2. Assign, in writing, a prime contractor for construction activities if there are two or more employers.
